Alright, so. Let's talk.

The faking suicide incident.

Bones apparently went to the cops, afraid for their safety because of Kit. That's why they made their post, saying they'd either kill themselves or go to a hospital. In reality, uh, they said they went to the cops.

This is a bit hard for me to wrap my head around, but they were home for the first few days they were missing, meaning their father lied for them. He said Bones was missing, and that he couldn't find them, but somehow, Bones had convinced him to lie for them. I don't understand how a parent would lie for their child, and I truly thought he was better than that.

Regardless, they'd apparently gone under witness protection for internet drama. From someone who was across the world from them. So, that's APPARENTLY the "reason" why they couldn't tell anyone about their safety, and why they wouldn't tell anyone if they were alive or dead. They even went so far as claiming that they never threatened suicide, despite the instagram post being readily available and unedited. Despite their poor GTA joke.

The question is, what is a lie, and what isn't? It's hard to tell with them.

Avec talking about lying to someone about where Bones was

What avec sent, lying to someone about knowing where bones is.

First batch of screenshots. Clearer versions of the posts submitted originally during this incident, more to come.

Bones' alter "Trigger" claiming that they're a friend of Bones, attacking June and saying the leaks were fake, saying that Bones didn't fake their suicide, saying that they didn't want to attack June, then continues to insult her.

Remember when Bones said that June was obssessed with them, but she hasn't talked about them ever since they attacked her last?

I've been speaking with the leak anon, who confirmed that none of the screenshots were tampered with or edited. The only type of editing done was ping related, to avoid being caught.

This tag also faces every screenshot during the situation.

Bones literally LIED to you about their safety and Avec was their accomplice. How can they just forgive them after blatantly lying to their face?!

(from Anon) (Apologies for sending so much I'm just trying to get as much as I can) First thing is a message Bones had said, I'm assuming to their mods, and another regarding IT's future

(from Anon) And bashing about Kit. Kind of ironic on that last message there

(from Anon) just showing how manipulated their followers are that they'd make a vague threat of hurting someone.

Everyone can take a break, it's not the problem here - the problem here is how they worded their "I'm going on break" message, and their actions after that. But the breaking over knees thing, I think it's just a joke.

"This is proof that they IMMEDIATELY let their mods know what they were doing. That they were going out. Their friends knew IMMEDIATELY what they were doing. " can we please get all of these screenshots posted literally everywhere? June?
